EXPLANATORY NOTES

INTRODUCTION

1 This register has been produced as part of the responsibilities of the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) for coordinating the statistical activities of Commonwealth agencies. The register lists all collections of statistics undertaken by Commonwealth agencies. It is a guide to collection activity rather than a directory of statistics available, although many may use the register for this latter purpose.

BACKGROUND

2 Under Section 6 of the Australian Bureau of Statistics Act 1975, the ABS is charged with the coordination of the statistical activities of Commonwealth agencies, with particular regard to the avoidance of duplication in the collection of statistics, the attainment of compatability between statistics collected by different agencies and the maximum utilisation of information collected.

3 In 1982, the Government decided that there was a need for greater coordination of Commonwealth statistical activities and that the ABS should increase its efforts in this area. The ABS was asked to:

- . undertake, in conjunction with relevant agencies, examinations (or joint reports) of the agencies' statistical collections;
- . maintain and publish a central register of statistical collections.

SCOPE AND COVERAGE

4 This register lists ABS collections conducted between 1980-81 and 1984-85, and collections conducted by other Commonwealth agencies in respect of 1983-84.

5 Collections have been included in this register if they satisfy the following criteria:

- . ABS - activities for obtaining information from outside the ABS which result in the creation of a new data holding(s) or the augmentation of an existing data holding(s).

Agencies other than the ABS - data collections undertaken either by themselves or by consultants or other private organisations acting on their behalf if such collections:

- were undertaken primarily for statistical purposes; or
- were not undertaken primarily for statistical purposes but yielded statistics; or
- generated statistics as by-products of administrative processes.

6 As is to be expected when covering a wide range of agencies with different functions, it is sometimes difficult to ensure strict adherence to these reporting guidelines. Individual agencies' judgements on which collections should be included were generally accepted.

7 Information relating to ABS collections was compiled from ABS records, whereas for other agencies the information was obtained from a survey of Commonwealth agencies undertaken by the ABS in early 1985.

8 It should be noted that inclusion of a collection in this register does not necessarily imply that data from the collection are available outside the agency.

STRUCTURE AND CONTENT

9 The collections in this register have been grouped according to 34 broad subject headings based on the subject classification system used in the ABS Catalogue of Publications (Cat. No. 1101.0), but somewhat modified for the purpose of this register. This classification system was chosen for easy cross reference between the two publications. Under each general heading, relevant collections have been listed alphabetically by collection agency. Each collection is listed only once, although many could have been classified appropriately under two or more headings. For example, a collection on prices of a specific commodity (eg. fruit and vegetables) has been classified under PRICES although it could have been just as appropriately classified under a specific industry group (eg. CROPS AND PASTURES). Input/Output collections are another example; these are classified under NATIONAL ACCOUNTS (as in the ABS Catalogue of Publications) rather than under the specific industries to which they relate.

10 For each collection the following information is provided:

- . Collecting department or authority
- . Title and geographic coverage.
- the titles of the collections are generally as reported to the ABS but sometimes with minor reorganisation to bring key words to the front of the title.
- where the title did not specify the collection's geographic coverage, this has been included in brackets.

Frequency of collection

- this is the frequency of conduct of the collection not the frequency of publication of information compiled from the collection.

The following classifications are used:

MONTHLY

QTLY - Quarterly

SIX MONTHLY

YEARLY

FIVE YEARLY

OTHER - Regular collections of a frequency not specified above

IRREG - Irregular

ONE-OFF

CONT - Continuous

Geographic detail

- for ABS collections this is the smallest area for which statistics are available.
- for agencies other than the ABS this is the smallest area for which statistics are produced. The following classifications are used:

AUST - Australia

STATE/TERR - State or Territory

CAPITAL CITY

STAT DIV - Statistical Division

CITIES/TOWNS

OTHER

Contact information

- for further information about ABS collections users should contact the Information Services unit in any capital city ABS office. Addresses and telephone numbers are listed on page xi.
- for further information about the statistical collections of other agencies, users should contact the Branch or Section given in the body of the register. The contact information is given as reported in the survey in 1985. Such information is subject to change.

FURTHER INFORMATION

11 In addition to the information in this publication, some additional information about each collection has been included on the ABS's central register of statistical collections. The additional information available includes the data source, the collection coverage, the number of reporting units, and the collection method. Information about specific collections is available on request to the Legislation and Coordination Section, Australian Bureau of Statistics, PO Box 10, Belconnen ACT 2616 (telephone (062) 52 7156). Inquiries or comments relating to the register or this publication should also be addressed to that section.

12 The ABS intends to update the central register continually as new information is provided to the ABS. (As part of the upgraded responsibilities of the ABS for statistical coordination, Commonwealth agencies have been asked to notify the ABS of all new statistical surveys so that joint reports can be prepared before the collection commences.)
